

5 Questions Every Family Should Ask as the School Year Begins

1. Does the school have an active shooter policy?
2. Does the school train all staff members for active shooter scenarios?
3. Does the school have a single point of entry (access control) during school hours?
4. Is there a way students and staff can report threats?
5. How are parents notified when a threat has been made to the school?

MISSION STATEMENT

Stand with Parkland is a national organization representing American families. We are committed to advocating for practical public safety reforms focused on the safety of our children and staff at school, improved mental health support, and responsible firearms ownership. Personal responsibility and a desire for change are paramount to this effort, and it is the people involved at all levels that will make these goals a reality. Violence in our schools affects everyone. It is an American epidemic, and it is time that we all come together to do something about it.
